

DID NOT LEAVE ANY ADDRESS ON TAKING LEAVE

TWO STRANGERS WHO OPERATED HERE FOR A FEW DAYS ARE NOW WANTED BY THE POLICE OF PENSACOLA.

Claiming to have an office at different local hotels, eating their meals in restaurants, lodging in a private residence and agreeing to loan money at four per cent. interest in any sum desired on deposit of an application, fee, ranging from $5 to $20, succeeding in getting several persons interested to the extent where they readily deposited their application fee in the hope of deriving the benefit of borrowing "cheap money," leaving the city for points unknown yesterday at noon, without leaving their new address, are some of the things which the city officials have been informed Mr. Blue and Mr. Darden are guilty of and which has caused an affidavit to be issued for their arrest, charging them with being dangerous and suspicious characters.

The two men who composed the new "charitable institution," were accompanied by a woman, who was said to be Mr. Blue's wife. She has also left the city.

The two men solicited customers who wanted to borrow money at four per cent. interest. When an applicant had closed a deal with them he was told to meet them at a certain hotel, in each instance the name of the hotel being different.

One applicant, a German employed in an East Government street wholesale house, deposited an application fee of $20 for a loan of $2,000. He has also filed a request with the city authorities that the two men be placed under arrest, but his request was received too late.

A local building contractor also wanted to borrow some money at four per cent. He also wants the two men pinched.

Chief of Police Sanders has furnished the Mobile, New Orleans and Jacksonville authorities with descriptions of the two men and the woman and an effort will be made to apprehend them.

CONSPICUOUS IN A BALLROOM

Flakes of Dandruff on the Collar and Shoulders of a Gentleman in Full Dress.

This is the thing you quite frequently see in the ballroom—a man's black dress coat literally covered with dandruff.

It must be annoying to the wearer, and certainly not a pleasant thing to observe. But dandruff can be eradicated. It is a germ disease that will some day cause baldness.

Newbro's Herculicide kills the hair-destroying germ, and stimulates the hair to a rich, abundant growth; it does more—keeps the hair soft and pliant.

Furthermore, Herculicide is a most pleasant toilet accessory; of pleasing odor, and cooling to the scalp.

The senate then turned to the reconsideration of the vote by which the senate sustained the governor's veto of the Johnson insurance bill. The point of order was raised by Senator Dayton that such action could not be taken at this time constitutionally. The point was sustained by a vote of 15 to 10.

Senator Johnson moved that the general appropriation bill be made a special order for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The motion was lost.

Bills on third reading were then taken up.

On the thirty-foot put Edrington missed, and Knowles hit the cup but fouled out, and Edrington then won.

NEGRO LYNCHED BY A MOB NEAR BATON ROUGE

The negro was taken from the jail by a mob of masked men and carried off. Nothing has been seen of the negro or the mob since.

Brown was held at Port Allen on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Cadet Revert, of the Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge Junction, several months ago. Young Revert was on his way home from the Christmas holidays and a party of drunken negroes on the train commenced firing revolvers. Revert was struck by one of the bullets and killed. ### Meeting of Two World-Famous Men.

Old neighbors of Carnegie in Bradstock, says a despatch to the New York Press, are telling of the first time Carnegie met Schwab and how the young man sang and played his way into the heart of the man of steel. It was in the old days of "Bill" Jones, former superintendent of the Edgar Thompson plant, that Carnegie was living in a little house in Bradstock, personally inspecting every thing. He was ill with a cold one week and could not leave his home. Jones was ordered to report to him every night with the day's work. Jones and Carnegie fought so that one night Jones left the house, vowing he would never again enter it. Next night Jones said to Schwab, who was a boy in the office:

"Here, take this report down to the old man. He'll likely snap your head off, but don't mind that."

Schwab took the paper to Carnegie and while the steel king looked it over he looked at the fine piano.

"Do you play, young man?" said Carnegie, looking up suddenly and catching Schwab looking at the instrument.

"Yes, sir," answered Schwab promptly.

"Can you sing?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will you play and sing something for me," said the steel man, and without a quaver Schwab went to the piano and began. Schwab had a fine voice and played well on the piano. For one hour he played and sang for the sick man and then Carnegie reached out his hand and said:

"Tell Bill Jones to send you every night with that report. Come early and sing for me again."

And that's how Schwab got his start.

A Charming Little Oriental.

The little son of the Siamese minister is one of the quaintest juvenile characters in Washington, says the New York American. Moreover, he is pretty. The women who see him go into ecstasies over him. They try to have him talk, but for the most part he merely smiles and looks at them in a curious sort of way, as if he were a scientist and was examining some new sort of bug.

The wives of two senators were quietly strolling by the legation this afternoon when they spied the young Oriental dressed as if he were on his way to Sunday school. Instantly they began asking him questions in pidgin English. The boy let them go on for a minute or so, and then, apparently becoming weary of their searching glances, exclaimed in a clear, ringing voice, "Oh, break away, you rubber-necks!"

Mr. Young possesses a large fortune and is a member of many clubs in New York. He was at the pier when the vessel sailed, but smilingly referred interviewers to Mme.
